
FOOD STAMP CERTIFICATION
ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS
Students

FS 230 Students
Change #1-2006
April 1, 2006

230.01 STUDENT REQUIREMENTS

- A. An individual age 18 through 49, enrolled at least half time (as defined by the institution) in an institution of higher education, is ineligible to participate in the Food Stamp Program unless one of the exemptions in 230.03 is met.

NOTE: The age requirement for ongoing cases begins the month after the month of the 18th birthday. The age requirement for applications is determined by the individual's age on the date of application.

- B. An institution of higher education includes, but is not limited to, a college, university, or vocational/technical school which normally requires high school graduation or an equivalency certificate to enroll.

Some institutions make exceptions for students who the institution feels can benefit from the program offered, even though the student has not graduated from high school. Students attending an institution under special circumstances are considered enrolled in an institution of higher education. If courses offered provide college level credit or the credit is transferable to other degree programs, it is considered higher education.

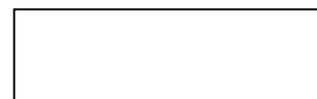

230.02 PROCEDURES FOR DETERMINING STUDENT STATUS

A student is anyone age 18 through 49 enrolled at least half time (as defined by the institution) in an institution of higher education. A student is enrolled in an institution of higher education if:

- A. The student is enrolled in any curriculum at a college or university that offers degree programs regardless of whether a high school diploma is required, or
- B. The student is enrolled in a business, technical, trade, or vocational school that normally requires a high school diploma or equivalent for enrollment in the curriculum.
- C. Enrollment begins the first day of the school term at the institution of higher education and ends when the student graduates, is suspended or expelled, drops out, or decides not to register for the next normal term (except summer school). Enrollment status during vacations and recess is determined based on the student's status just prior to the school break.

230.03 STUDENT EXEMPTIONS

- A. A student is an eligible student and may be included in the FSU if any one of the following exemptions is met.
1. Age 17 or younger or age 50 or older;
 2. Physically or mentally unfit (as defined for work registration);
 3. Employed for a minimum of 20 hours each week (not averaged) and paid for that employment;

FOOD STAMP CERTIFICATION
ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS
Students

4. Self-employed for a minimum of 20 hours each week (not averaged) and receiving weekly earnings at least equal to the minimum wage multiplied by 20 hours;
5. Responsible for the care of a dependent FSU member under the age of six (If there are two parents and two or more children under six, both parents can claim this exemption. If there is only one child in the home, then only one parent can claim this exemption.);
6. Be a single parent enrolled in an institution of higher education on a full-time basis (as determined by the institution) and be responsible for the care of a dependent child under age 12.
 - a. This provision applies in those situations where only one natural, adoptive, or stepparent (regardless of marital status) is in the same food stamp household as the child.
 - b. If the natural, adoptive, or stepparent does not live with the child, another full-time student in the same FSU with the child may qualify for eligible student status under this provision if he or she has parental control over the child and is not living with his or her spouse.

Parental control means the individual is responsible for the day-to-day decisions and care of the child. (Babysitting does not meet this definition.)

7. Be responsible for the care of a dependent FSU member who has reached the age of six and is under age 12 if adequate child care is not available to enable the student to attend class and work 20 hours each week (not averaged) or participate in a State or federally financed work-study program. In a two-parent household, both parents may claim the exemption if there are two or more children who meet this definition.
8. Work First Family Assistance recipient;
9. Assigned to or placed in an institution of higher education through:
 - a. A program under the Workforce Investment Act (WIA); or NOTE: WIA Programs are operated under the auspices of local Workforce Development Boards.
 - b. The Food Stamp Employment and Training Program or a government-sponsored employment and training program for low-income households equivalent to an employment and training component; or
 - c. A program under Section 236 of the Trade Act of 1974; or
 - d. Work First Employment Services; or
 - e. A training program under the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA).

FOOD STAMP CERTIFICATION
ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS
Students

Self-initiated placements during the period of time the student is enrolled in one of these employment and training programs shall be considered to be in compliance with the requirements of the employment and training program in which the person is enrolled provided that the program has a component for enrollment in an institution of higher education and that program accepts the placement. A student who voluntarily participates in one of these employment and training programs and is placed in an institution of higher education through or in compliance with the requirements of the program will also qualify for the exemption.

10. Participating in an on-the-job training program.
- a. An on-the-job training program for food stamp purposes is one in which a participant is hired by a private or public employer and while engaged in productive work receiving training that provides knowledge or skills essential to the full and adequate performance of that job.
 - b. The student is considered to be participating in on-the-job training only during the period of time the person is being trained by the employer. During the period of time that the person is attending classes, he or she would have to meet one of the other eligible student criteria to be eligible for the program.

EXAMPLE: A person is in a program which requires that he or she attend classes full-time at an education institution for ten weeks and, subsequently, be trained by an employer for an additional ten weeks. Only the latter ten-week period would be considered participation in an on-the-job training program for purposes of the student provision. During the ten-week period the person is only attending classes, he or she would be ineligible unless he or she meets one of the other eligible student criteria.

11. Be participating in a State or federally financed work-study program during the regular school year.
- a. The student must be approved for work-study at the time of application or will be added as a change when the work-study is approved, and
 - b. The work-study must be approved for the school term; and
 - c. The student must be working to earn this exemption.
 - d. This exemption begins with the month the school term starts or the month the work-study is approved, whichever is later. The exemption continues until the end of the month in which the school term stops.
 - e. Do not continue this exemption if the student refuses a work-study assignment.
 - f. Do not continue this exemption between school terms when the break is more than a month unless the student participates in work-study during the break.

FOOD STAMP CERTIFICATION
ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS
Students

- B. If none of the above exemptions are met, the individual is an ineligible student and cannot be included in the FSU.

230.04 STUDENT VERIFICATION

Verify student status through documentary evidence from the school or through a verbal contact with a school official. Student status may also be verified through the Student Income Verification Form, DSS-8654.

